Dear kind DepEd Officers,

The History Department of UA&P is currently preparing for a seminar-workshop entitled Teaching Rizal's Noli Me Tangere and El Filibusterismo for Wisdom and Citizenship in the K to 12 Curriculum: Historical Context Behind Rizal's Two Novels. It will be held on April 27-29, 2016. We already have a DepEd Advisory (please see attached file).

As of now, we have very few registered participants. We think it's a shame if our teachers miss out on this opportunity to learn how to teach our national hero's novels better, with more understanding and depth. Given this, we would like to ask for your help in endorsing this seminar-workshop to public school and private school teachers so that more will benefit from it. If you can forward this email to other divisions also, we would greatly appreciate it.

Below is the invitation letter and attached to this email are the PDF files of the invitation letter, program of event, registration sheet and the DepEd advisory, for your reference.

Thank you very much for your act of kindness. God bless you!

Greetings!

Rizal's Noli Me Tangere and El Filibusterismo are and have always been integral components of Philippine education. Given the new K-12 curriculum, there is the desire to produce graduates who will possess global consciousness and competitiveness. In specific terms, Rizal's novels have also been re-focused within a wider Asian nationalist framework. However, Filipino teachers' training is basically in literature.

With these considerations, the History Department of the University of Asia and the Pacific (UA&P), which has successfully been offering various seminar-workshops over the years, is pleased to announce that we will be having a seminar-workshop entitled "Teaching Rizal's Noli Me Tangere and El Filibusterismo for Wisdom and Citizenship in the K to 12 Curriculum: Historical Context behind Rizal's Two Novels." The activity will be held from April 27 to 29, 2016 (Wednesday to Friday) at the Telengtán Hall, University of Asia and the Pacific campus, Pearl Drive, Ortigas Center, Pasig City.

This seminar-workshop will be relevant to the Filipino and Social Studies teachers from Grades 6 to 10 who teach Philippine History as well as the two novels of our national hero – the Noli Me Tangere and El Filibusterismo. The objectives of the seminar-workshop are:

1. To develop correct and deeper understanding of the historical background behind Rizal's novels in order for and

3. To illustrate how the learners can use critical analysis, academic reasoning, and practice responsible citizenship and civic virtues.

Each day of the seminar will focus on a specific module which will have two parts: Part I presents the theoretical content which will elaborate on the historical concepts; while Part II clarifies pertinent ideas and gives opportunities for participants to share possible applications of learnings to teaching Rizal's novels in the classroom setting. A workshop will also be conducted to enable the teachers to apply the concepts learned on specific topics. Highly accomplished members of the UA&P History Department, such as Dr. Paul Dumol, Dr. Clement Camposano and Dr. Marya Svetlana Camacho, will give the lectures as well as moderate these workshop sessions.

The registration fee is Php3,000. For those who want to avail of the early bird rate of Php2,700, participants may register on or before March 25, 2016. The fee covers the handouts, meals and certificates for the three-day activity. Enclosed are the following documents for your perusal and guidance: (1) the DepEd Advisory No. 366, s.2015, (2) the proposed program for our event, and (3) the registration form.

Please feel free to contact us at the following: (Telephone) +63 2 637-0912 loc. 277 to 278, (Fax) 637 0912 loc. 369 or (e-mail) history@uap.asia.
