Greetings in St. La Salle!

We are pleased to invite you to the 5th DLSU SHS Research Congress to be held virtually on June 27-28, 2023, with the theme: Reaffirming the Critical Role of Transformative Research and Knowledge Production in the Age of Post-Truth. This year's Congress is open to all interested students and faculty free of charge!

The DLSU SHS Research Congress is the largest annual gathering of senior high school research mentors and students in the country. This Congress is a venue for research-based ideas, business concepts and products, and art performances and exhibitions from the capstone projects of senior high school students. DLSU SHS believes that in a volatile, uncertain, complex, and ambiguous (VUCA) world, commitment to research will empower the youth to be knowledge-seekers, truth-tellers, and agents of change. To uphold the University's vision-mission of bridging faith and scholarship amidst disruptive situations, the Congress highlights the essential role of nurturing a culture of research through the production and dissemination of innovative knowledge for continuous human development and social transformation.

The new attitude and mindset of VUCA 2.0 (vision, understanding, courage, and adaptability) inspired this year's Congress to move beyond. The 5th DLSU SHS Research Congress proactively responds with our continuous advocacy against disinformation, misinformation, and malinformation, as well as our critical discernment towards the rise and conflict of Artificial Intelligence in assisting learning. The Congress believes in the power of transformative research to facilitate the rediscovery of shared truths and renegotiate existing norms, beliefs, and values toward a more sustainable society. Through this Congress, young scholars, artists, and entrepreneurs are challenged to feature scientific and artistic research projects that showcase their commitment to providing convergent truths that withstand the challenges posed by the VUCA influences today and in the future.

We are excited to have your school participate in the Congress. For further details, you may refer to the 5th DLSU SHS Research Congress Primer and register your participants through this Registration Form.

Reaffirming the Critical Role of Transformative Research and Knowledge Production in the Age of Post-Truth

THE 5TH DE LA SALLE UNIVERSITY SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL RESEARCH CONGRESS

The DLSU SHS Research Congress is the largest annual gathering of senior high school research mentors and students in the country. This Congress is a venue for research-based ideas, business concepts and products, and art performances and exhibitions from the capstone projects of senior high school students. DLSU SHS believes that in a volatile, uncertain, complex, and ambiguous (VUCA) world, commitment to research will empower the youth to be knowledge-seekers, truth-tellers, and agents of change. To uphold the University's vision-mission of bridging faith and scholarship amidst disruptive situations, the Congress highlights the essential role of nurturing a culture of research through the production and dissemination of innovative knowledge for continuous human development and social transformation.

The 4th DLSU SHS Research Congress, held on a digital platform, is a testament that our young researchers could realize innovations toward a more sustainable and crisis-proactive society. Despite the limitations posed by the COVID-19 pandemic, the Congress featured 117 paper and poster presentations, 13 business concepts, and 33 arts and design research presentations, from the 76 participating schools nationwide, with 3440 students and teachers. The Master Class equipped teacher participants and research mentors with a strong foundation on action research and research dissemination through publication.

The new attitude and mindset of VUCA 2.0 (vision, understanding, courage, and adaptability) inspired this year's Congress to move beyond. With our continuous advocacy against disinformation, misinformation, and malinformation, as well as the rise and conflict of Artificial Intelligence in assisting learning, the 5th DLSU SHS Research Congress actively responds with the theme Reaffirming the Critical Role of Transformative Research and Knowledge Production in the Age of Post-Truth. The Congress believes in the power of transformative research to facilitate the rediscovery of shared truths and renegotiate existing norms, beliefs, and values toward a more sustainable society. Through this Congress, young scholars, artists, and entrepreneurs are challenged to feature scientific and artistic research projects that showcase their commitment to providing convergent truths that withstand the challenges posed by the VUCA influences today and in the future.

THE NEW DLSU SHS RESEARCH CONGRESS LOGO

The first four installments of the Congress surmounted a great deal of obstacles - physical, environmental, and even virtual. To embody such feats, the organizing committee of the 5th DLSU SHS Research Congress has decided to launch the new official logo. The Lasallian Star, Signum Fidei, represents the mission of De La Salle University to be of service to the Church and society, especially the poor and marginalized, through research and innovation that will bring about social transformation. The arrowhead symbolizes the commitment of the Congress to continuously elevate the quality of senior high school students' research projects to equip them as they someday take vital roles in society and the world.

THE CONGRESS EVENTS

Paper Presentation

The Paper Presentation will showcase research concepts, collaborations, innovations, and products of various strands and tracks through an interactive virtual presentation.

Poster Presentation

The Poster Presentation is an exhibition of research concepts, collaborations, innovations, and products of various strands and tracks through a virtual display of research posters. This exhibit will particularly show the relevance and contribution of the presenters' research work in their chosen discipline.

Business Presentation

The Business Presentation will provide an opportunity for future business professionals to exhibit their entrepreneurial skills, showcase their innovative products, and contribute to the various fields of business knowledge. The business concepts shall be supported by sound business plans that promote product sustainability and social responsibility, while the business research papers share findings in business operations, management, marketing, accounting, and economics.

Arts and Design Research Presentation

The Arts and Design Research Presentations event is a platform for emerging artist-researchers whose research and/or creative works are interpretative, explorative, interdisciplinary, or critical. These works must respond to the congress theme through innovation, provocation, or mediation. This event is open for senior high school artist-researchers engaged in the visual arts, design and applied arts, digital arts, film, creative writing, performing arts, music, dance, and community-based artistic projects.

Master Class

The Master Class is a venue for global educational leaders to visualize together the changes and constructs for a post-pandemic research program. DLSU SHS Research Congress aims to be a unifying opportunity for local and international faculty researchers as this is a space for discourses about improving educational programs within their schools and districts through learning engagement from various Lasallian masters of the field. The event encourages mentors and scholars across countries to apply, collaborate, and integrate in the pursuit of sustainable actions through research.

MASTER CLASS SPEAKERS

Dr. Chona Camille VinceCruz-Abeledo

Dr. Chona Camille VinceCruz-Abeledo is a scientist, teacher, science communicator, and entrepreneur from the Philippines. She leads a team of brilliant researchers who develop innovations that help fishers and farmers produce more with less, and the technologies they create are at the nexus of molecular biology, genetics, ecology, big data, machine learning, and information technology. She is also the creator of the science channel SHE-ensya, fueled by her advocacy to improve communications between the scientific community and other sectors of society. A recipient of the 2021 Outstanding Asian Science Diplomat award and honored as one of 2021's Southeast Asian Women Science Leaders, she has a diversified background in research rooted in a Bachelor of Science Degree in Molecular Biology and Biotechnology from the University of the Philippines – Diliman, which is complemented by a Master of Environment and Natural Resources Management degree from the UP Open University. Her dissertation work on the molecular and morphological characteristics of Scylla species in the Philippines celebrates the synergy between genetics and ecology, as she completed it from the De La Salle University with a Fulbright dissertation grant to the University of Washington in Seattle. Innovations from this dissertation won her the DOST-PCIEERD's 2015 Outstanding Research and Development Award for Emerging Technologies. Right now, she is actively engaged in citizen science projects on the impacts of climate change on the conditions of coastal communities and the assessment of plastic pollution in different ecosystems. The community efforts of her team have led her to be awarded the 2023 Lasallian Pillar of Excellence Award in Community Engagement. She is also the founder of CrabTECH Innovations, an aquatech startup company that won the Women in Ocean Food Innovation Studio 2022 pitch competition for their Crabifier and Alinmango technologies.

Dr. Maricar S. Prudente

Dr. Maricar S. Prudente is presently a Full Professor 10 of the Science Education Department at De La Salle University. She completed her Ph.D. in Environmental Chemistry and Ecotoxicology at Ehime University, Japan, under a Japan Society for the Promotion of Science Ronpaku Fellow Grant. As an educator, Dr. Prudente has served as an administrator in various capacities at De La Salle University. Dr. Prudente has also served as a resource person, facilitator, and coordinator in various seminars, workshops, and training programs dealing with action research, environmental issues, science education, and technology integration. To date, Dr. Prudente has authored and co-authored 65 scientific research papers on environmental monitoring of persistent toxic substances and innovations in science education, which were published in academic journals that are indexed and abstracted by Web of Science and Scopus. Currently, her Google Scholar profile shows her total citations at 8,105 and an h-index of 32, placing her among the top-rank scientists and researchers in the country. Her involvement in research was recognized in 2015 when she was awarded the Lasallian Pillar of Excellence in Research by De La Salle University. Dr. Prudente was also the recipient of the 2015 Lifetime National Achievement Award of the National Research Council of the Philippines. Moreover, Dr. Prudente was recognized as the 2018 Outstanding Filipino JSPS Fellow in the field of Education by the Department of Science and Technology and the Japan Society for the Promotion of Science. Prof. Prudente also served as the Chair of Division 1- Educational, Governmental, and International Policies of the National Research Council of the Philippines for 2 Terms from Fiscal Year 2016 up to 2020. Presently, Dr. Prudente sits as the Vice President of the National Governing Board of the Biology Teachers Association of the Philippines. Moreover, since 2015 up to the present, Dr. Prudente is the chairperson and organizer of the Action Research Action Learning, an International Congress held annually at De La Salle University Manila. Presently, she is the President of the Biology Teachers Association of the Philippines for FY 2023-2025.
