Dear Sir:

We are an Authorized Service Provider of the Department of Education and an Accredited Service Provider of the Professional Regulations Commission.

We are inviting you to attend The International Online Training on New Trends in Teaching: Reshaping Learning through Thinking Skills and Emerging Strategies. This three- day online / self- paced training covers the following topics:

Reshaping Instruction through Innovations. Emerging technologies have the potential to revolutionize teaching, offering ways to engage and empower learners.

Seamless Learning and Design Thinking in Teaching. Seamless learning is the integration of learning experiences across different contexts such as formal and informal education and real-world environments and design thinking is a process that encourages learners to identify and analyze real- world problems, generate ideas and develop innovative solutions.

Developing Thinking Skills. Thinking Skills such as creative thinking, critical thinking, sequential thinking and holistic thinking are crucial in education as they empower students to make decisions and solve problems independently. They also help learners to face challenges with thoughtful and strategic mind.

The contents of these modules are responsive to the training's main objective that is to make teachers ready to preparer their learners to be motivated, empowered and equipped with skills needed to navigate challenges of the ever-changing world thus preparing them to thrive in the 21st century.

The mode of delivery for both programs is online/ self-paced which provides participants greater flexibility both in time and tasks.
