Dear Dr. Bautista,

In anticipation of an enhanced stress on home and family life this coming school year, we wish to invite the officers of the CACHET Associate School Clubs, their parents, the teacher coaches, the spouses of the coaches who are married, and the partners of coaches in relationship, to a whole day

USAPANG PAMILYA
at the University of Asia and the Pacific on Saturday, 26 April 2025
from 7:30 a.m. (Arrival) to 3:00 p.m. (Back to Stations)

The day will feature Usapang Pamilya, Mag-Asawa, Magulang-Anak, and Usapang Kabataan following a schedule that will be made definitive once the expected attendance is determined. This invitation is open to those who attended a similar activity of 25 January (as a sequel) and those who did not (as an initial experience).

The objective of the three-tiered exercise is three-fold: a) to deepen and enrich the relationship between husband and wife; b) to open communication lines between parents and children; and c) to enable the students to be more disposed to serve the community according to their talents and skills. I Am STRONG ... I Keep Love Real of the University of Asia and the Pacific has been carrying these segments out quite effectively since the 1990s.

Please note that this activity is underwritten by Alalay sa Pamilya at Bayan Foundation, Inc., in collaboration with University of Asia and the Pacific and Bloomberry Cultural Foundation, Inc.

We do hope that you will find this invitation worth your while to consider favorably and give your time to. Home and family life is one of the most significant factors in developing the young men and women of character, able to make good and responsible decisions, among others, through genuine openness with their parents and other people they have confidence in.
